

Correction

On page 21 of our original report, the legend in Figure 4 is incorrect. The colours corresponding to Somewhat Concerned and Not Concerned were inadvertently swapped. The corrected figure can be seen below.

This error does not impact any numbers listed in the report text. While a greater number of respondents expressed no concern about various sources of income and living expenses, this does not detract from our initial text i.e. 53% of graduate students reported feeling either concerned or very concerned about their income, including income from the following sources: research assistantships (45%), teaching assistantships (51%), and stipends (49%).

This error has also been corrected in the report online. We apologize for any inconvenience caused.

Figure 4: Changes in the level of concern among graduate students before COVID-19 and during COVID-19 related to income, stipends, teaching and research assistantships, fees, rent, medical costs, credit groceries, and childcare.